A Skeptical M.D.

I am, by training, an MD as well as an ND (naturopath), having begun my medical studies in Germany and completed them in the US. Everything I was ever taught in science told me that silver, being a heavy metal, was toxic to biological systems.

Believing this adamantly I was absolutely against any discussion about ionic/colloidal silver, I believed what I had been taught - that silver, no matter what form it might be in - was toxic and dangerous. I received some information in the mail about American Biotech Labs products, including colloidal silver, but instead of following my first instinct, to discard it, I read it, then read it again and again, perhaps ten times, and each time it seemed to make more sense.

I got more literature on it from the company, then decided to try it myself before I would ever recommend it to anyone else. I was stunned with the results. We practice very proactive nutritional and detoxification health care and have the absolute best, more pure, most potent immune enhancing agents available anywhere, yet this product was even better than what we were using for chronic and resistant infections of a bacterial nature. I suspect that it helps with viral infections, as well, but I have not read enough of the research to be able to verify that, it is only my clinical observation thus far.

Based on this, I now use and freely dispense this product to my patients with excellent results. The only requirement is to determine that it is appropriate to their unique needs and make certain they use it strictly according to the manufacturer's recommendations.

Respectfully yours,

James R. Bowman, MD, ND, NHC, DCP, FAAIM JRB/mp,

Best of State

American Biotech Labs (ABL) announces that the company has just been awarded the 2007 Best Of State award for Medical Innovation by The Premier Recognition and Rewards Program for the State of Utah.

The Best Of State Awards are awards that are given annually to companies deemed to have achieved exceptional excellence in an area of endeavor. Only one medical award was issued in 2007. Of hundreds of biotech and medical product companies who have facilities in the state, the 2007 winner for Medical Innovation was awarded to American Biotech Labs.

The majority of these independent studies have not been released to the public; however, some of the data has been released to certain government groups as well as in a congressional testimony (April 2005). Some test work has also been released in other countries where the foreign government allows citizens to obtain positive information on the non drug related products they wish to utilize. The management of American Biotech Labs will continue to work with independent labs, individual government groups, and institutions with the intent and hope to reduce suffering and promote health worldwide.

Unique Fingerprint

Work completed so far indicates that American Biotech Labs' products are distinguishable from every other silver product tested. The unique structure/composition of the products, inherently results from the already patented manufacturing process.

More Effective Product / Top Material Scientist

This unique structure/composition of American Biotech Labs®' silver products results in different efficacy when compared to existing silver products. Tests have been directed by Pennsylvania State University, one of the leading material science laboratories in the world. Tests on the composition and structure of ABL Products were completed under the direction of Professor Rustum Roy, who is regarded as one of the worlds top material scientists. Testing was also performed by distinguished scientists at Arizona State University and also the University of Arizona. This work is helping to explain why American Biotech Labs®' products are much more effective at very low concentration levels of silver, when compared to other silver products, some of which contain hundreds of times higher concentrations of silver.

Testing Continues

American Biotech Labs works with numerous independent laboratories, institutions, and some government groups worldwide with continuous ongoing testing of American Biotech Labs products. Over 80 studies have been completed to date. Work completed thus far includes seven safety studies, antibiotic comparison studies, antibiotic additive studies, thousands of bacterial tests, numerous tests against virus including bird flu virus, and numerous studies against yeast and black mold. Testing also includes four studies with one of the American Biotech Labs supplement products against the malaria protozoa and independent human studies from four hospitals in Africa (See Congressional Testimony).

"I have been in alternative health for over 30 years and can honestly say the expertise of this company is well proven in the quality of its product.

American Biotech Labs has become a part of many families' lives showing its importance in many ways. One of those ways would be those who have been on American Biotech Labs' products have only had sniffles and a slight cough, where others not on the product have resulted in a full blown flu. Children on the product have not had to miss school while schoolmates have been out for a week or longer.

This product is a MUST for every home!"

Ginny Holliday, N.D. - Pennsylvania

"In medicine we have known for a long time that silver kills pathogens and we have used it in babies' eyes and even today in cream for burns. I have used many different brands of colloidal silver including the home made kind but never got the results I have gotten with the American Biotech Lab products, ASAP Silver Solution 10ppm, 22ppm and AGX-32.

The positive results are very quickly noticed and I recommend them to my clients as a first line of defense against pathogens."

Quila Rider, RN, CNM, Ph.D, Arizona

"No other health care product or supplements, of any type has ever impressed me as much as have the American Biotech Labs products. With the amount of clinical research performed, both in the laboratory and the human clinical trial results, no other product will have such impact or benefit as these."
